NOW YOU KNOW

Lonnie Bunch III

Educator and historian Lonnie Bunch III is the first African American and the first historian to serve as head of the Smithsonian Museum in Washington D.C. He was elected the 14th Secretary of the museum on May 28, 2019 and oversees 19 museums, 21 libraries, the National Zoo, numerous research centers, and several education units and centers.

Bunch has spent most of his career as a history museum curator and administrator. Prior to becoming secretary, he served as the founding director of the National Museum of African American History and Culture and designed the traveling exhibitions and public events prior to the opening of the museum.

When many buildings closed in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Smithsonian put much of their educational content online. Their Learning Lab is available virtually for teachers, parents and the public to utilize freely.
